

Kansas Hay Market Report

Compared to the last report, the hay market bumped up a little in all regions in response to the short supply and deteriorating drought conditions. Producers in many parts of the state saw some rain this past week but, once again, for most it wasn't enough to move the needle on the drought. According to the U.S. Drought Monitor for September 13th, abnormally dry conditions (D0) decreased to 21%, moderate drought (D1) decreased to 11%, severe drought (D2) increased to 21%, extreme drought (D3) remained near 31%, and exceptional drought (D4) increased to 12%.

Pottawatomie County Conservation Speech Contest open to area high school students Instructions for the 2022 County Conservation Speech Contest have been delivered to High School Vocational Agriculture and Speech/English Instructors. The theme for this year's contest is: "Healthy Forests - Healthy Communities." This contest is open to all high school students from 9th through 12th grade in the county. At-home school or remote students are also encouraged to enter. This year marks the 44th year for the competition!

The County Contest will be held on Thursday, October 20, 2022 at 7:00 p.m. in the USDA Service Center/Pottawatomie County Conservation District Conference Room at 501 State Street in Westmoreland. The County speech contest winner will be presented $100 for their efforts. All other contestants will receive $25.

The winner of the County contest will compete in the Kansas Association of Conservation Districts (KACD) Area IV North East Kansas contest with 23 counties represented. The area contest will be held November 9th in Westmoreland. KACD will provide funds to offer cash awards as follows: 1st place wins $150; 2nd place is awarded $100; and 3rd place receives $50.

The Northeast area winner is then asked to present at the KACD State competition held in Wichita on Monday November 21, 2022. The Conservation District and the KACD Auxiliary may offer to pay expenses to the state contest. Prizes of $1,000 for first place, $500 for second place and $250 for each honorable mention will be awarded at the state level.

For more information and contest rules contact the Pottawatomie County Conservation District at (785)457-3398 Ext 104.

Participants can participate in only one county's contest. It can either be in the county that they reside or where they attend school.

Kansas Farmers Union members participate in NFU's D.C. Legislative Fly-In Over 250 Farmers Union members from across the country arrived in Washington, D.C. during the week of September 12 to advocate for family farmers. Over the course of a few days, Farmers Union members attended hundreds of Congressional meetings, met with over a dozen federal agencies, and directly participated in discussions with Secretary of Agriculture Tom Vilsack, Federal Trade Commission chair Lina Khan, Assistant Attorney General Jonathan Kanter, and Commodity Futures Trading Commission chair Rostin Behnam, among other leaders.

"This has been an incredibly productive and successful fly-in for Farmers Union. It's a testament to the passion and interest of our members that they're willing to take time away from the farm and come to Washington and build bipartisan support for Fairness for Farmers and their farm bill priorities," said NFU president Rob Larew.

Kansas Farmers Union (KFU) members participating in the legislative fly-in included KFU state president Donn Teske, Wheaton; Lavern Potuzak, Agenda; Jeff Kindel, Concordia; Rob Fisher, Ozawkie; Donna Pearson McClish and Keisha and Randy Coutts (Wichita); and KFU executive director Nick Levendofsky, Courtland.

Attendees met with legislators or staff from each of Kansas' Congressional delegation and shared priorities on the 2023 Farm Bill, climate change, conservation, biofuels, corporate consolidation in agriculture, and local and regional food systems.

In his introductory remarks to Farmers Union members, Vilsack said, "In many respects, National Farmers Union has been the architect and the designer of the work we are doing in this administration in terms of farm country and in terms of agriculture."

"Competition in agriculture is critical. Too often, farmers and livestock producers have too few suppliers to buy from and too few buyers to sell to. Farmers and their families work incredibly hard and deserve to see the fruits of their labor and the American dream," said Assistant Attorney General Jonathan Kanter

American Farmland Trust and the Farmers Market Coalition announce winners of the 14th annual America's Farmers Market Celebration

American Farmland Trust and the Farmers Market Coalition have announced the winners of the 14th annual America's Farmers Market Celebration, a national event that ran between June 21-September 19, 2022. Markets receiving the most public votes are declared the national winners. The Celebration also recognizes top markets in five regions nationwide and in all 50 states.

More than 2000 markets nationwide participated in the 2022 celebration with over ten million supporters engaged through voting, visiting the celebration website and engaging with the celebration on social media.

"America's farmers' markets serve as anchors of communities from coast to coast, providing access to fresh, healthy food and helping residents develop relationships directly with farmers and purveyors," said Greg Plotkin, American Farmland Trust's director of digital communications. "I am proud of the value the Celebration lends to the nation's farmers markets, helping them secure new sponsorships, vendors, and shoppers. On behalf of everyone at American Farmland Trust and the Farmers Market Coalition, congratulations to all the national, regional, and state winners!"

"The Farmers Market Coalition is thrilled again to partner with American Farmland Trust for this annual celebration of farmers' markets," said Hannah Fuller, Farmers Market Coalition communications manager. "Whether it's in a small town or a major urban center, farmers markets are hubs of community action and bringing people together. We love how this celebration brings communities together to support their farmers' market organizations online and in person."

Since 2008, the celebration has highlighted the important role farmers markets play in American communities and our larger food system. Farmers' markets are on the leading edge of educating consumers about where food comes from and reinforce AFT's message of No Farms, No Food. They foster direct relationships between community members and farmers to help create a more fair, sustainable and just food system. Participating in the Celebration is a way for people to come together and support their communities and local food producers.

National winners are awarded $5,000 for first, $2,500 for second, $1,500 for third, $750 for fourth and $250 for fifth. These funds are awarded to markets for marketing, communications and other needs that help expand the market's reach and impact.

Winning the first place national award and $5000 prize was Overland Park Farmers Market. "It is an honor and privilege to win America's Favorite Market. This is an award that I'm proud to say is truly a community award," said Kristina Stanley, Recreation Supervisor, Parks and Recreation, City of Overland Park. "Over the last three years, staff, vendors and shoppers physically pivoted repeatedly to meet the health guidelines set before us to open and operate safely. We all mentally adapted to overcome the fears and uncertainties of the unknowns. For years, the market has been viewed as a large community gathering place with events and entertainment to make downtown Overland Park a desirable destination place, all of which was suspended during our temporary relocation. However, this pandemic has highlighted the primary function of what a farmers' market is and how critical local food is to both vendors and shoppers. From opening as a drive-through market, to a social distancing market and then moving back to downtown Overland Park to now the Expanded Pavilion Site, we learned the value and were reminded just how essential the farmers' market truly is. The OPFM provides healthy food and gives low-income shoppers a way to access local goods bringing the equality of sustainable products to all."

Young Stockmen tour beef and dairy industries

The third installment of the Kansas Livestock Association (KLA) Young Stockmen's Academy (YSA) was held September 19-21. The group of young producers spent three days touring various segments of the beef and dairy industries in central and western Kansas. Merck Animal Health is the exclusive sponsor of the YSA program.

El Dorado Livestock Auction was the first tour stop. The group heard from co-owner Josh Mueller about the modern facility, where more than 50,000 head of cattle are sold per year. Frank Harper hosted the class for a tour of his new backgrounding facility near Sedgwick, where both home-raised and purchased calves are grown before being sent to a feed yard. During a stop near Lindsborg, Erik Peterson explained how they use high-accuracy sires and cow families at Smoky Valley Angus to raise bulls that meet the needs of their commercial cow-calf customers. Sam Hands and Marissa Kleysteuber, managing partners of Triangle H, gave the group an inside look into their fifth-generation operation, which consists of a cow-calf, stocker and cattle feeding program, as well as a farming business.

During a visit to Noble Dairy near Plymell, manager Will Basham discussed the protocols used to manage 2,500 dairy cows and took the class on a tour of the facility, including the milking parlor. Luke Knight, manager of Knight Feedyard near Lyons, highlighted various aspects of the feed yard, including a newly built mill, which is used to customize feed rations for each pen of cattle. In addition, the group toured the National Beef packing plant in Dodge City.

Members of the 2022 class are David Allen, Tribune; Payden Barrett, Grantville; Cece Blythe, White City; Maggie Brakeville, Manhattan; MariKate Crouch, Scott City; Kyle Cure, Cimarron; Mitch Duer, Onaga; Dakota Ferguson, Williamsburg; Blaise Fountain, McPherson; Brandon Frederick, Hutchinson; Grant Glaser, Marion; Dylan Hamilton, Sublette; Michael Olson, Olsburg; Spencer Paul, Manhattan; Shelby Schultz, Miltonvale; Nate Smith, Pratt; Issa Sommer, Cimarron; Tyler Wells, Lyons; Ethan Wilke, Scott City; and Kristina Zerger, Cheney.

The 2022 YSA class will gather for their final session at the KLA Convention November 30 to December 2 in Wichita. More information about YSA can be found at www.kla.org.

Randy Dickhut retires, new senior vice president of real estate operations for Farmers National Company announced Farmers National Company has announced that Randy Dickhut, senior vice president of real estate operations, will retire Sept. 30 after more than 20 years of dedicated work and leadership within the company. Randy began his career with Farmers National Company in 2002 as a farm manager in west central Illinois.

In 2006, he moved to Omaha, Neb., when promoted to vice president of client relations, and will complete his tenure with the company as the senior vice president of real estate operations. Dickhut also has served as a valued member of the executive team and on the board of directors.

Farmers National Company is pleased to announce that Paul Schadegg, western area sales manager, has been promoted to senior vice president of real estate operations. Paul brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise to his new role with 20+ years of real estate and farm management experience, including a successful track record in both real estate sales and business development.

In his new role, Schadegg will lead Farmers National Company's strategy for real estate and appraisal, as well as the company's Hunting Lease Network.

"I'm excited to move into this new role and leverage my real estate experience to continue the progress and success of Farmers National Company's real estate operations," he said. Schadegg's profile can be found at www.FarmersNational.com/PaulSchadegg.

"I want to thank Randy for more than 20 years of service to Farmers National Company and congratulate him on his upcoming retirement," said Clayton Becker, president. "We will certainly miss his experience and consistent media presence as an industry expert on the latest trends in the farmland market. I'd also like to congratulate Paul on his appointment as senior vice president of real estate operations to replace Randy. Paul possesses an abundance of knowledge and experience, and we are looking forward to his continued leadership within the company."

MJE Livestock Equipment expands dealer network

MJE Livestock Equipment announced a major expansion in their newly restructured Dealership Network. These partnerships will bring MJE Livestock Equipment to farms and ranches across the continental United States.

The MJE Livestock Equipment network has appointed dealers with the knowledge and skills to help Ranchers take their businesses to the next level. MJE Livestock Equipment is centrally located in the Midwest in the heart of cattle country.
The dealership network is expanding to provide the highest-quality, American-made livestock equipment to ranchers across the country.

Two major factors set MJE Livestock Equipment
apart from competitors.

1. Qualified drafting technicians ready to design a facility that prioritizes the end-user's handler safety and cattle comfort.

2. Committed to ranchers as partners in the Ag Industry, MJE LE shares the latest techniques, strategies, and information to promote a healthy herd and increase gains. Buyers of MJE Livestock Equipment are true American ranchers who view their livestock as a business and a way to provide for their families.

Rep. Tracey Mann, left, was recently presented the Friend of Farm Bureau Award.

Rep. Tracey Mann honored with Friend of Farm Bureau Award

U.S. Representative
Tracey Mann (KS-01) released the following statement in response to receiving the American Farm Bureau Federation's Friend of Farm Bureau award.

"Agriculture is the heartbeat of the Big First District, Kansas, and America. Farmers, ranchers, and agricultural producers are good people who carry a pioneering spirit with them. They look out for each other and sacrifice for each other. They work hard no matter the circumstances. We owe them a lot. We live in a free nation in part because of our food and energy independence, and without the hardworking individuals who feed, fuel, and clothe us, our national security and freedom would be in jeopardy.

It is an honor for me to accept the American Farm Bureau's 'Friend of Farm Bureau' award, and it is an even greater honor to serve Kansas agricultural producers in Congress and on the House Agriculture Committee."

Members of the Kansas Farm Bureau presented Representative Mann with the award at his Washington D.C. office.

Representative Mann is the member of Congress for the First Congressional District of Kansas. The Big First District is third in the nation for agricultural production and is number one in wheat, beef, and sorghum production.
A fifth-generation Kansan, Mann was born and raised on his family farm in western Kansas. Mann proudly serves on the House Agriculture Committee and Subcommittees on Livestock and Foreign Agriculture, and General Farm Commodities and Risk Management.

Understanding body condition scores

By Ross Mosteller, Meadowlark District
Extension agent, livestock and natural resources

As I've entered my mid-forties, there are signs of my changing body condition (fatter, less hair, etc...) but that's not where this article is going. Those who attended the Tailgate Talk got to hear me ramble on about cow body condition scoring assessment and the opportunities to add body condition in fall. Since that's fresh on my mind, let's dive in a bit to BCS.

The Body Condition
Score (BCS) system used for beef cows range from 1 to 9, with a score of 1 reflecting an emaciated cow and a score of 9 an obese cow. The BCS system allows producers to visually assess their cow herd using numbers to objectively describes the amount of condition or fat reserve of an animal. Cow body condition score is closely related to reproductive efficiency and is a more reliable indicator of nutritional status of a cow than is body weight. Concepts are similar in other species; with dairy cattle, goats, sheep and swine using five-point scales.

Body condition is important because there is a close relationship between BCS at calving and the first 90 days after calving to reproductive success. In addition, cow body condition influences the calf's ability to develop a strong immune system. Don't forget the bulls! BCS can affect fertility in the male side of the equation too. BCS is a snapshot of cow herd management, similar to a financial balance sheet, and should be assessed at specific production points throughout the year.

You can evaluate body condition anytime you are around cattle, but it is recommended 60 to 90 days before calving, at calving, and weaning. This can simply be done with a tally of the number of cows that fall into each BCS category while riding, walking, or driving through the cattle or chute side as processing. You can record this on about anything, but the

K-State Body Condition Record Book (MF3277) is a great tool for recording scores.

Knowing BCS is one thing, but how and when is it beneficial to work to change scores? Obese cows can be an issue, but generally this discussion centers on getting flesh on thin or borderline cows (BCS 3 or 4) by moving them to more optimal scores of 5 or 6. One body condition score is roughly seventy-five pounds, so adding that much condition doesn't happen overnight. The more time you have, less energy demands the animal has, the fewer scores you have to jump and the higher quality of feed available; all have direct impact on changing body condition score.

Fall is an excellent time to add condition in spring calving herds. Cows are second trimester gestation, have weaned a calf and are going through the period of lowest maintenance energy requirement. This is also 90-120 days away from common calving windows, which gives the additional time factor. Moderate quality feedstuffs can be used to add condition, with cool season grasses having their secondary production window (if it rains!) and crop residues are available, some with high nutritional value cover crops as we discussed at Tailgate Talk. This can be accomplished on low quality forages with protein supplementation as well.

K-State's Guide to Body Condition Scoring Beef Cows and Bulls (MF3274) highlights work from Spitzer et al on first calf heifer rebreeding rates, looking at BCS. The study shows that heifers going into breeding who were at score 4, had a 43% pregnancy rate at Day 40 of the breeding season. Comparatively, heifers at score 6 showed a 90% pregnancy rate. A substantial difference. This guide gives good additional information on Beef Body Condition Scoring. Hopefully Body Condition Scoring is, or will be, a part of your herd management plan.

PCCA announces year-end cash distributions of $19.48 million to its grower-owners

At its 69th Annual Meeting, Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Cooperative Association announced further fiscal year-end cash distributions to its grower-owners totaling $19.48 million. The distributions, to be completed this month, consist of $9.40 million in cash dividends and $10.08 million in stock retirements. PCCA's president and CEO, Kevin Brinkley, commented on the cooperative's efforts for future business transformations.

"PCCA has been on a journey for the past three years to transform the company into a marketing cooperative of the future," Brinkley said. "We started in 2019 by completely overhauling our risk management policies. We followed up that work with a top-to-bottom review of PCCA's mission, vision, and strategies. I'm pleased to report rapid progress on several initiatives that were developed through that work. While it takes time to implement changes at a large organization like PCCA, our membership has been supportive of introducing new and better products and services for our grower-owners, customers, and other stakeholders."

In other business, directors for the following PCCA districts were re-elected by the membership: Clint Abernathy, District 1; Kody Carson, District 2; Dean Vardeman, District 6; and Dahlen Hancock, District 7.

Founded in 1953, PCCA is a Lubbock-based marketing cooperative owned by farmers in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and New Mexico dedicated to supplying sustainably grown, high-quality cotton fiber around the world. In addition to cotton marketing, PCCA also owns cotton warehouse facilities in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas and develops and offers software programs and networks to local co-op gins that help add value to their grower-owners' cotton.

National Farm Safety and Health Week kicked off September 19

Agriculture is considered one of the most dangerous occupations in the nation, but safety measures can lower producers' risk of having a serious accident, said a Kansas State University official on farm safety.

Tawnie Larson, the state's coordinator of the Rollover Protection Structure (ROPS) program at K-State, said several webinars are on tap during the upcoming National Farm Safety and Health Week to serve as reminders on roadway safety; ATV and UTV safety; mental health and suicide prevention; grain bin and confined spaces safety; and more.

The online webinars are available for free from the AgriSafe Network. National Farm Safety and Health Week kicks off on Sept. 19.

"Kansas ag producers and their business partners are not only an important part of our economy in Kansas, but an integral part of our rural communities," Larson said. "Losing a producer to an accident can affect much more than the operation of the farm; it can take a vital person from a community."

Larson said agriculture safety focuses on the total health of agricultural workers, including healthy habits like sleep, diet, mental health and safety for the entire family around the farm. She notes it includes safety around equipment (including tractors and ATVs) and on roads; as well as hearing, vision and skin protection and working in the elements – both when it is hot and cold outside.

"Mental health is also important," Larson said. "Farmers have high levels of stress, which makes the rural suicide rate high. Mental clarity is an important aspect of safety too. It is important that producers and ag workers remain in the moment when doing all tasks."

Larson said a routine chore can become dangerous, "if we let our minds wander and our regard for safety is forgotten."

She noted that many programs also are available for women, who are taking a larger role in agriculture. Programs include maintaining strong bones, avoiding secondary injury, and working smarter.

"Women don't have the brute strength of most men, but with thought and proper care, they can get the job done," Larson said.

"Safety during pregnancy, especially environmental contaminants, is an important practice for women to consider. The National Children's Center for Rural and Agricultural Health and Safety recommends a 'Parent First, Farmer Second' mindset, which protects the most important thing that a farmer will ever raise -- children. It is important to plan to keep young children out of the worksite and off equipment by creating areas for safe play and planning for childcare."

Larson said the AgriSafe Network offers programming related to many aspects of health for those working in agriculture, including a podcast titled, Total Farmer Health.

I have gone far around Kansas this time, to the frontier forts of Texas. With Abilene, TEXAS, as the hub of our wheel, the Order of the Indian Wars led a tour of the forts and museums of the region.

Amazing. I was inspired by the sites who take no federal money and get minimal funds from any government entity. Yet they manage to preserve history and share it in a meaningful and interesting way, and with obvious passion. The connections to Kansas are everywhere; our common stories link us to one another, to Oklahoma, to New Mexico, to Arkansas, to... you get the picture.

The borders are imaginary lines, meaningful, but not permanent and certainly not historically set in stone. The Plains tribes who were here before us did not observe these borders, though they did recognize boundaries in streams and hills, rock formations and treelines.

In our visits to these sites, stories of many of the same characters who are the mainstays of our stories at Forts Wallace, Dodge, Larned, Hays, Riley, Leavenworth. I marvel at the miles they crossed.

I picked up the biography of Kiowa leader Sa-tanta by Charles Robinson III and wondered how I had not read it before. At the Frontier Texas museum in Abilene, a hologram of an actor portraying Satanta spoke defiantly from an exhibit, as if a ghost, omnipresent on the Plains, had found form and voice for moments just to address us. Other images joined him to share the heart-breaking and rich tales of days that would be forgotten.

I drove eight hours from Abilene to Oakley on U.S. Hwy 83, my only turns from the hotel driveway into my own. I marveled at the landscape, crossing the Canadian, the Red, the Arkansas, and their tributaries. Mesquites have invaded many of the open fields near the Brazos and they give way to yuccas and cedars, fields of milo and corn, and finally the pastures more familiar to me in Logan County.

I do so love traveling around Kansas, sometimes far around Kansas.

KFMA Farm Business Consultant

The Kansas Farm Management Association (KFMA) is seeking an individual to serve as an Extension Agricultural Economist in our Hiawatha office. The foundation of the KFMA program is building relationships with our farming clients that allows us to provide education and consultation in the area of farm business management. KFMA Economists strive to provide cooperating farms with resources to make informed financial, production, and tax management decisions. In order to achieve this goal, an Extension Agricultural Economist is expected to:

- Develop and maintain a relationship with membership of approximately 80 cooperating commercial farms
- Assist cooperating farms with development of a comprehensive and accurate accounting of the farm
- Provide KFMA members with regular on-farm visits
- Collect, process, and verify financial and production information from cooperating farms to create an annual accrual whole-farm business and enterprise analysis
- Provide guidance in estate planning, farm succession planning, and business entity structure
- Learn and understand federal and state income tax regulations and the income tax implications of farm business management decisions
- Provide assistance with year-end income tax planning and management
- Prepare income tax returns as an employee of Northeast Kansas Agricultural Tax Services, Inc

Cattlemen's Beef Board approves FY 2023

The Cattlemen's Beef Board (CBB) will invest approximately $38.5 million into programs of beef promotion, research, consumer information, industry information, foreign marketing and producer communications during fiscal 2023, subject to USDA approval.

In action at the end of its Sept. 7 and 8 meeting in Denver the Beef Promotion Operating Committee (BPOC) approved Checkoff funding for a total of 13 "Authorization Requests" - or grant proposals - for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 2022. The committee, which includes ten producers from the Cattlemen's Beef Board and 10 producers from the Federation of State Beef Councils, also recommended full Cattlemen's Beef Board approval of a budget amendment to reflect the split of funding between budget categories affected by their decisions.

Nine contractors and three subcontractors brought 14 Authorization Requests worth $48 million to the BPOC, nearly $9.5 million more than the funds available from the CBB budget.

"Producers are behind all the decisions that the BPOC makes during these meetings each September," said CBB and BPOC Chair Norman Voyles, Jr. "We carefully consider every Authorization Request to determine how to use Checkoff dollars to drive beef demand and provide producers with the best possible return on their Checkoff investments."

Kansas Lange, Two Little Goats

Two little goats. That doesn't sound like a lot, but perhaps it could be the beginning of an entrepreneurial career.

Today we'll meet a young ruralpreneur who is using her two little goats to learn the principles of entrepreneurship for the future.

Kansas Lange is a teenager who won her county's Youth Entrepreneurship Challenge in spring 2022. Kansas and her family live in Garfield, in Pawnee County.

Her father is Charles Lange, a K-State grad and public health veterinarian in Dodge City. While inspecting the packing plant in Dodge, Dr. Lang met one of the workers, Sabrina, who is originally from New Mexico. They married, moved to Garfield, and now have two daughters and a son.

Kansas is the younger daughter. "My grandfather suggested they name me Kansas because that is where they met," Kansas said.

Kansas became very active in 4-H. "I'm homeschooled, so this is my creative outlet and my opportunity to meet people in the community," Kansas said.

In addition to showing multiple species of livestock, she enrolled in such projects as shooting sports, woodworking, clothing and textiles, and foods and nutrition.

Kyle Grant is the K-State Research and Extension 4-H agent in Pawnee County. "Kansas has excelled in our Pawnee County shooting sports program," Grant said. "She also excels at livestock judging, meats judging and skillathon, where she earned the opportunity to go to the national contest in Louisville, Kentucky. She is a good role model for Pawnee County 4-H'ers."

Kansas learned about the Pawnee County Youth Entrepreneurship Challenge, sponsored by NetWork Kansas. YEC is a sequence of community-based entrepreneurship competitions for students in grades 6-12, culminating in a state championship. Students present their conceptual or business ideas to judges and compete against others in their age division locally. The top contestants advance to the state finals, held in April at K-State in partnership with the College of Business' Center for Entrepreneurship and the Kansas Masons.

Erik Pedersen is president and COO of NetWork Kansas. "When you walk into one of these events at a middle school or high school, you see a student standing there with a tabletop display that they've created," he said. "They're dressed up and talking to a group of adult judges; they're shaking hands, they're making eye contact, they're answering questions about their project or business idea. The life skills that they're gaining will put them miles ahead of their peers."

Kansas thought about what project she might enter in this competition. As a teenager, she was experiencing acne on her skin and looking for better skin treatments. "I found a lot of articles that said that goat milk soap could help," she said. No big city stores carried such products nearby, but she could raise dairy goats and make soap of her own.

Kansas got two Nigerian Dwarf dairy goats that she milked twice daily, did the research and developed a process for producing scented goat milk soap. It worked so well that she wanted to share the products with others and started selling the product locally. She named her business Two Little Goats.

"My mom has a degree in business, so she could help with the business side, and my dad helped with the science and biology," Kansas said.

She entered her project in the Pawnee County Youth Entrepreneurship Challenge. In 2022, she took first place and advanced to state. At the Kansas Department of Agriculture's 2022 Ag Growth Summit, Kansas spoke about her project at the entrepreneurship breakout session.

"I especially enjoyed doing the research and thinking on my feet when the judges ask questions," she said.

She's a remarkable young woman from the rural community of Garfield, population 151 people. Now, that's rural.

More information about YEC is available online.

How do we as a state develop and encourage the next generation of entrepreneurs? The Youth Entrepreneurship Challenge is a great step in the right direction. We commend Kansas Lange and all those involved with YEC for making a difference with their ideas and business development.

A big career in business just might begin with two little goats.

More than 800 exhibitors to participate at KJLS

The Kansas Junior Livestock Show (KJLS) will host 826 youth for the 90th annual event. Exhibitors have entered 1,827 head of livestock, which includes 152 market steers, 380 breeding heifers, 229 market hogs, 152 breeding gilts, 310 market lambs, 213 breeding ewes, 210 market goats and 181 commercial doe kids. The statewide event will be held September 30-October 2 at the Kansas State Fairgrounds in Hutchinson.

KJLS will award cash to exhibitors of the top five animals in both market and breeding shows in all four species. Direct cash payouts will range from $4,000 to $500 for steers; $1,000 to $300 for heifers; $2,000 to $500 for market hogs; $750 to $250 for breeding gilts; $2,000 to $300 for market lambs; $500 to $50 for registered ewes; $500 to $100 for commercial ewes; $2,000 to $400 for market goats; and $750 to $200 for commercial doe kids.

In addition, KJLS will present several scholarships during the show to exhibitors who have excelled academically, in community service and in 4-H/FFA. This is the 29th year for the scholarship program, which has awarded a total of $510,600 to 359 exhibitors since 1993. Last year, a total of $20,100 was awarded to 11 individuals.

Separate from the selection of species champions, a showmanship contest will be held. The top showman in the junior, intermediate and senior divisions of each species will receive a silver belt buckle. Prizes also will be awarded for second through fifth place in each division.

KJLS will again offer the LEAD Challenge, which is an educational and advocacy event that provides an opportunity for exhibitors to learn about current industry issues and apply that information in a competitive environment. Exhibitors will be divided into three age divisions: junior, intermediate and senior. All will participate in the LEAD Listen and Learn, showmanship, skills stations and an interview. There are 27 juniors, 52 intermediates and 41 seniors entered in this year's challenge.

In conjunction with KJLS, the Kansas Livestock Foundation (KLF) again will sponsor a club calf show and sale. Steer and heifer prospects from some of the top club calf producers in the Midwest will be consigned. The event will take place October 1. Sale commission proceeds will go toward KLF Youth in Agriculture scholarships.

The Mid-America Classic Collegiate Livestock Judging Contest will be held September 30 in conjunction with the show. This event, which has been held for more than 30 years, provides competitors the opportunity to sharpen their livestock evaluation skills; develop their critical thinking and decision-making abilities; and refine their public speaking skills.

Sponsors of the event include Cargill, Merck Animal Health, Seaboard Foods, Kansas Farm Bureau and Farm Bureau Financial Services, Friends of KJLS, the Kansas Department of Agriculture, Farm Credit Associations of Kansas, Huvepharma, Everage and ICT Great Plains. KLA and Kansas State University serve as the additional sponsors of the show.

Legislation prohibiting EPA monitoring methane emissions from livestock introduced U.S. Sens. John Thune (R-S.D.), a member of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry, and Joni Ernst (R-Iowa), a member of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry and Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works, recently introduced a bill that would prohibit the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) from monitoring methane emissions from livestock.

Specifically, this legislation would prohibit the EPA from using any of the new methane monitoring funding to surveil livestock methane emissions in South Dakota, Iowa or anywhere else in the country.

"Farmers and ranchers - the people who work tirelessly to help feed America and the world - should not be subject to government surveillance as part of a broader effort to implement radical climate policies that would threaten their ability to operate," said Thune. "This common-sense legislation would protect South Dakota livestock producers and their operations from government snooping."

Kansas wheat leaders sign purchase letter of intent with Taiwan Flour Mills Association

Kansas agricultural leaders inked a deal with a Taiwanese delegation on September 16 that will directly benefit wheat producers, thanks to a commitment to purchase 69.8 million bushels of U.S. wheat, worth approximately $567 million from U.S. farmers over the next two years.

Kansas Wheat Commission Chairman Gary Millershaski, who farms in Kearny County, signed a joint letter of intent with representatives from the Taiwan Flour Mills Association (TFMA). Through the letter, Kansas wheat farmers committed to continuing to grow high-quality wheat supplies, while importers and suppliers working in Taiwan will privately negotiate the terms, quantities, prices and conditions for the purchase and sale of wheat.

"While we may face challenges on our farms in terms of weather and market volatility, we are committed to growing the best quality wheat possible, and we will continue to be the world's most reliable choice," Millershaski said in remarks to the delegation. "I'm honored to sign this agreement representing Kansas wheat farmers, the largest producers of hard winter wheat in the U.S. It is meaningful to all farmers in the U.S., especially for those of us in the state of Kansas."

Taiwan is the sixth largest U.S. wheat export market, thanks in large part to nearly six decades of work through U.S. Wheat Associates and its legacy organization to establish a long and beneficial history of cooperation between Taiwan's flour milling industry and the U.S. wheat industry. Since first establishing a promotional office in Taipei, Taiwan has purchased more than 45 million metric tons (1.65 billion bushels) of U.S. wheat, according to U.S. Wheat Associates.

Taiwan has also sent 13 agricultural trade missions to the United States since 1998. This year's mission included stops in Washington, D.C., for meetings with leaders from the U.S. wheat and grain industry. Following these meetings, the flour milling group visited Kansas, Idaho and Oregon for a firsthand look at U.S. wheat production and to meet the people responsible for supplying high-quality wheat to Taiwan. The trade team visit included a stop at the Kansas Wheat Innovation Center in Manhattan.

In addition to the intent to purchase U.S. wheat in 2023 and 2024, the Taiwanese delegation also signed Letters of Intent with the U.S. Soybean Export Council (USSEC) and the U.S. Grains Council (USGC) to purchase soybeans and corn. The overall estimated commitment in the three letters totals $3.2 billion.

Together, the biennial goodwill mission showcases the economic benefits to Kansas farmers, agribusinesses and rural communities from decades of agricultural trade.

"This has been a challenging year on Kansas farms," Millershaski said in his remarks. "We have faced an extreme drought, inflation, market volatility, and increased input costs and availability. In these uncertain times, what wheat farmers need are partners and long-term trade agreements that benefit both U.S. farmers and international wheat buyers."

"Your commitment to purchase U.S. wheat sends a strong message to our farmers that we will have a market and incentives for Kansas wheat farmers to continue to grow the best quality wheat to hold up our end of that agreement."

* Annual Percentage Yield (APY) effective 09/21/2022. CDs offered by Edward Jones are bank-issued and FDIC-insured up to $250,000 (principal and interest accrued but not yet paid) per depositor, per insured depository institution, for each account ownership category. Please visit www.fdic.gov or contact your financial advisor for additional information. Subject to availability and price change. CD values are subject to interest rate risk such that when interest rates rise, the prices of CDs can decrease. If CDs are sold prior to maturity, the investor can lose principal value. FDIC insurance does not cover losses in market value. Early withdrawal may not be permitted. Yields quoted are net of all commissions. CDs require the distribution of interest and do not allow interest to compound. CDs offered through Edward Jones are issued by banks and trusts nationwide. All CDs sold by Edward Jones are registered with the Depository Trust Corp. (DTC).
